GIRL GUIDES ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Girl Guides Association is to be held in the Anglican church hall, opposite the Greenhill hotel, on Friday (tomorrow) at 3 p.m., to which all mothers are cordially invited.

It is understood that the Girl Guides Association is strictly non-denominational, and all mothers who have real interest in their girls should be present at this meeting, which will be addressed by Mrs. (Dr.) Borden, captain of the Coleman branch.

LETHBRIDGE FISH AND GAME

The Lethbridge Game Association ends the following resolutions to the parent body. These should be of interest to all branches of this protective association:

Following is the list of the resolutions passed: Urging provincial fish hatcheries and rearing pools; urging that certain members of the police force be named game wardens, and that more voluntary wardens be appointed; urging establishment of a game farm; urging the government to take steps to deal with the bear nuisance at Waterton National Park, as they are interfering with campers and driving people away. Establishment of animal paddocks in the park was suggested.

Urging an open season of two weeks with a bag limit of ten for prairie chicken next fall; urging that a fish and game commission be named by the Alberta government; protesting against experiments being carried on with crows at the University of Alberta, which, it was feared, might result in crows becoming permanent residents of the province instead of migrating as they do now; urging the government not to allow over grazing by domestic animals of the forest reserves, as feed for deer and other wild life is thereby depleted.

BOTH STAR AND STORY

MADE "DEVOTION" A SPLENDID PICTURE

"Devotion," the current RKO Pathé attraction at Cole's theatre, starting three-day run tonight, starring Ann Harding, reproduces the famed and lovely Temple district of London.

Against this exquisite background, in contrast to its air of history and tradition, there is played an unusually pleasing story of modern romance, light comedy, and drama.

That such a story and setting should have Ann Harding as the star is one of the happy combinations too seldom seen in pictures. The star handles expertly a role demanding a wide emotional range. Perhaps never has Miss Harding appeared to more excellent advantage. She proves once again that she is an actress of fine ability, whose talent is not confined to one type of role.

Leslie Howard, who will be remembered for his fine work in "Outward Bound," is splendid in the leading role opposite Miss Harding. Robert Williams does another outstanding characterization.

Robert Milton did fine work in directing this enthralling picture.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL TO ADDRESS MINING MEN

Lord Bessborough, governor-general of Canada; R. Randolph Bruce, late lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, and Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, will be among the distinguished guests at the annual banquet of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, April 7, in Montreal. His Excellency's address will be broadcast throughout the Dominion.

Mrs. Joe Chaput, of Pincher Creek, is a Blairstown visitor today.

BEATH OF MRS. BEBISH

The death occurred at Aldergrove, B.C., on Wednesday, April the 6th, of Mrs. B. Bish, mother of Mrs. James Callan, of Calgary, formerly of Blairstown. Mrs. Callan had been visiting her mother, and had just returned to Calgary when she received the sad news.

Mrs. Callan left Calgary last night for the coast to attend the funeral.

MR. AND MRS. J. MOORES

HONORED BY TOWN COUNCIL

Ex-mayor James Moores and Mrs. Moores were guests of honor at a party given at the home of Mayor and Mrs. George Pattison, at which the members of the 1922 town council and officials were present.

In appreciation of his services as mayor for four years, he was presented with a handsome framed picture of Crows' Nest Mountain, and Mrs. Moores was presented with a lovely bouquet of roses, Mayor Pattison making the address accompanying the presentations.

Mr. Moores appropriately replied, stating that though he had resigned on the expiry of his term, yet he would continue to be interested as keenly as in the past in all matters pertaining to municipal government.

VOICE FROM STRIKE AREA

Creative work brings happiness; idleness brings discontent. Men's grievances become magnified and intensified when not engaged in gainful occupation. It also enables quicks with half-baked philosophies a better opportunity to spread their nostrums.

A dispute of any kind must have two sides, and each side has its pre-judged or biased viewpoint. This is quite natural. At present the Crows' Nest Pass has an industrial dispute at its hands, uncertain as to duration. In some quarters the strike is interpreted as an effort to forestall a reduction of wages, though no intimation had been given out this area that a reduction is contemplated.

Operators have indicated they will, under new agreements, run their mines as heretofore in accordance with the Mines Act, but will not be intimidated by union officials as to who shall or shall not work. Too many men for available work, single men wanting the same amount of work as married men with families, and agitators urging impossible things have contributed to the unrest among the mineworkers.

There appears to those on the outside to have been a determination to create a strike, no matter if there were reasons to justify it or not. It had to come to a showdown; to a test of strength between the operators and the mine workers as to who shall run the mines. The situation has been aggravated by the fact that the Workers' Unity League, with which the M.W.U. of C. is affiliated, has dominated the policy of the mine workers, and this organization has no official recognition, either by the operators or by the All-Canadian Federation of Labor. It endeavors to gain its objective by tyranny and revolution, by inciting the members to open violence, if necessary, and this is a very dangerous doctrine to promulgate.

There is a population of 7,000 people in the Crows' Nest mining area dependent on the bituminous coal industry. None are in a position to withstand a prolonged strike siege, neither can much help be expected from others on the prairies whose difficulties are as great as those of the industrial areas. The attitude of the Workers' Unity League is to hurl open defiance at all who are not within its ranks, thereby alienating public opinion to a large extent.—Clemen-

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

Her voice wavered uncertainly. The realization of his intent had come upon her so unexpectedly, rousing her from her placid unconsciousness, that she felt stunned—nervously unready to deal with the situation. She struggled a little, instinctively, but he only laughed down at her, a ring of masterful triumph in his voice, holding her effortlessly, with all the ease of his immense strength.

"It's no good, Jean. You've got to hear me out. I've waited long enough." He paused, then drew a deep breath. "I love you!" he said slowly. "My God, how I love you!"

There was an element of wonder in his tones, and she felt the strong hands gripping her tremble a little. Then their clasp tightened and he drew her towards him.

"Say you love me," he demanded.

It was then Jean found her voice. The imperious demand, infringing on that secret, inner claim of which she alone knew, stung her into quick denial.

"But I don't! I don't love you!" Then, as she saw the blank look in his eyes, she went on hastily: "Oh, Geoffrey, I am so sorry. I never guessed—I never thought of your coming."

"You never guessed? Good God!"—with a harsh laugh—"I should have thought I'd made it plain enough. Why, even that first day, on the river— I wanted you then. What do you suppose has brought me to Staple every day? Affection for Blaise Torquin?"—cynically.

"I thought—I thought—"She cast about in her mind for an answer, then presented him with the simple truth. "I'm afraid I never thought about it at all. I just took your coming over for granted. I knew you and Judith were old friends and neighbors, so it seemed quite natural for you to be here often—just as Claire Latimer is."

Burke searched her face for a moment. He was thinking of the other women he had known—women who would never have remained blind to his meaning, who had, indeed, shown their willingness to come halfway—more than half-way—to meet him.

"I really believe that's true," he said at last, grudgingly. "But if it is, you're the most unused-conscious woman I've ever come across."

"Of course it's true," she replied simply. "I'm—I'm so sorry, Geoffrey. I like you far too much to have wished to hurt you."

"I don't want liking. I want your love. And I mean to have it. You may not have understood before, Jean, but you do now."

Palpitation of the Heart Could Hardly Get Around

Mrs. Charles Strome, R.R. 5, Picton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with palpitation of the heart for a long time, day and night, and was so weak I could hardly get around."

After taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I was greatly relieved of these attacks.

My mother also has great faith in them and finds no other medicine can help her so much to heart trouble.

I can assure you that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a wonderful healer."

almost to scorch her—the next, he had hidden his face against the warm white curve of her throat, where a little astringent pulse throbbed tempestuously. Then, as though the touch of her snapped the last link of his self-control, his mouth sought hers, and he was kissing her savagely, crushing her soft, yielding lips between his own. His slender body swayed helpless as a reed in his strong grip, while the tide of his passion, like some fierce, uncontrollable flood, swept over her resistlessly.

When at last he released her, she stood back from him, rocking a little. Instinctively he stretched out his hand to steady her.

"Don't . . . touch me!" she panted.

The words came driven between clenched teeth chokingly. Her face was milk-white and her eyes blazed at him out of its pallor. She felt as if her heart were beating in her throat, stifling her, and for a little space sheer physical stress had held her silent. But she fought it back, asserting her will against her weakness.

"How dare you?" There was bitter anger in her still tones. "How dare you touch me—like that?"

With a swift movement she passed her handkerchief across her lips and then let it fall on the ground as though it were something obscene. He winced at the gesture; for a moment the passion died out of his face and a rueful look, almost of schoolboy shame, took its place.

"Do you—feel like that about it?" he said, nodding towards the handkerchief.

"Just like that," she returned. "Do you think—if I had known—I would have risked being alone with you? But I thought we were friends—I never dreamed I couldn't trust you."

"Well, you can't," he said unsteadily. The sight of her slender, defiant figure and lovely, tilted face, with the scornful lips he had just kissed showing like a scarlet stain against its whiteness, sent the blood rioting through his veins once more. "You'll . . . you'll never be able to trust any man who loves you, Jean."

Her thoughts flew to Jean. She would have given him her hand, but she only turned away, always. But then, perhaps—she's the afterthought came like a knife-thrust—perhaps he did not care!

"A man who—loves me," she said dubiously, "would not do what you just done."

"He would—sooner or later. Unless his veins ran milk and water!" He drew a step nearer and stood staring down at her sombrely. "Do you know what you're like, I wonder? With your great golden eyes and your madly smiling mouth and that little cleft in your white chin . . . You're angry because I kissed you. I wonder I didn't do it before! I've wanted to, dozens of times. But I wanted you to love more than a passing kiss. I've waited for that—waited all these weeks. And now you refuse it."

"You're not even . . . understood that I wanted you to love me," he said gently. "You're as I do, he doesn't stop to choose his words." He stepped closer to her. "You! You little, little thing! Why, I could pick you up and carry you to my cave with two fingers. Jean, when will you marry me?"

His big frame towered beside her. He paid no more attention to her dismissal of him than if she had not spoken, and she was conscious of an odd feeling of impotence.

"You don't seem to have understood me," she said forcing herself to speak composedly. "If I love you, you'd have need to 'carry me off' to your cave. I'd come—gladly. But I don't love you, Geoffrey. And I shall never marry a man I don't love."

"You'll marry me," he returned stubbornly. "Do you think I'm going to give you up so easily? If you do, you're mistaken. I love you, and I'll take you to love me—when you're my wife."

The two pairs of eyes met, a challenging defiance flashing between them. Jean shrugged her shoulders. "I think you must be mad," she said contemptuously, and turned to leave him.

In the same instant his hands gripped her shoulders and he swung her round facing him again.

"Mad!" he exclaimed hoarsely. "Yes, I am mad—mad for you. You little cold thing! Do you know what love is—man's love?"

She felt his arms close round her like a vice of steel, lifting her off her feet, so that she hung helpless in his embrace. For a moment his eyes burned down into hers—the hot flame of desire that blazed in them seeming

C.P.R. Liner "Empress of Britain" Is Greeted At Los Angeles

The "Empress of Britain," the Canadian Pacific's $16,000,000 liner and the largest vessel ever to steam into the Pacific ocean, entered Los Angeles harbor recently to the accompaniment of shrieking whistles. The ten-deck vessel, engaged in the St. Lawrence-Cherbourg route during summer months, took on an additional 60 passengers and will sail for Southampton, England, via the Panama Canal and New York. Half of the 400 passengers came ashore for a tour of Southern California cities.

Aboard the liner were many prominent persons including the Earl and Countess of Stratford, Count and Countess De Perigny, Dr. and Mrs. William Jennings Price of Washington, D.C., and former Lieut.-Gov. Hon. R. Randolph Bruce of British Columbia.

Country's Only Convict Prison Has Only 130 Inmates

A great deal is heard about English prisons being shut for lack of customers, and nothing about Scotland, but perhaps the apparent oversight is due to the fact that the term "prisoner" is used in a blanket sense to mean Britain as a whole. At any rate here is something definite about Auld Scotia.

Scotland has only one convict prison where men are sent to serve terms for serious offences. It is at Peterhead, on the north-east coast of Aberdeenshire, and was originally established so that a harbor might be built by convict labor.

The prison has accommodation for 300 convicts. The number of inmates has steadily decreased in recent years, and at the present time there are only 130 residents—less than half capacity. There is only one "lifer" in the community.

When it is remembered that the population of Scotland is four and a half million people, including some great industrial cities, this is a remarkable record.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

The Terrier Of Asthma comes like a thief in the night with its sudden, tempestuous, robbing its victim of breath. It seems beyond the power of man to relieve until one trial of medicine of that remarkable Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Then relief comes with a rush. Life becomes worth living, and if that disease is put permanently to rest.

THE VALUE OF A

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

(Third Prize Essay by Iris Webster, Cranbrook High School)

The Musical Festival is the gathering together of a number of students of music in a given district to be judged by a public performance and be judged for their work and graded accordingly. It is an annual event held at different centres in order to spread the benefits derived from it.

The musical recital is one method of drawing public attention to talented pupils. This is accomplished by the performance before the public and the publicity given the pupils by the newspapers in all interested points.

Appearing before an audience helps a person to overcome stage-fright. Therefore this trains the participants to give performances which are always of good quality and acceptable to the public.

The music rendered at a musical festival is always that which has the greatest admiration of any in the world of fine music. It is also varied, as there is music with different themes and in different times. It is interesting, too, to note the posture and attitude of the performer.

The musical festival "serves the town through the players themselves and through the newspapers. Before the contestants leave their homes they know something of and have discussed the town or city to which they are going. This acquaints the place with many who would otherwise know nothing of it. The newspapers keep the general public informed about the recital during its course and thus advertise consciously or unconsciously the place where it is held.

One other factor in making the town known is through the judges, who are usually well known persons in the musical world who travel from place to place.

If they are favorably impressed with a town they will speak well of it in the next place they visit.

The town industries are promoted in the accommodation of the visitors.

They must have food and lodging. Fred Blazenko, Coleman, third, 164, while in the town and they also spend Test pieces: "A Melody" (Richardson), a certain amount of money on amusements. RELIEF TROUBLES

Over in Newfoundland the unemployed are demanding "blood or food." So insolent have become these demands that a mob of 10,000 yesterday attacked the capitol, broke windows, robbed the basement of everything moveable, sent officials scurrying for protection, and eventually forced the premier and his cabinet to resign. This scene might have been enacted over in Colorado or Pennsylvania, but it certainly does not sound like it could have happened north of the international boundary line. It seems that other sections than British Columbia have made a mess of their relief measures—Cranbrook Tribune.

THE STRIKERS

The spectacle of miners striking at this time appears the height of folly to the hundreds of men who have been idle for months and with no prospect of getting work for some time to come. That the strike should be called on account of the insubordination of miners, seems even more ridiculous.

In the higher class unions, insubordination is not tolerated for a moment. Men must work under the orders of a foreman, and so long as he performs his duty the union stands by him. If he fails to obey, he must stand alone. In the Typographical Union, of which the writer was a member for nearly a quarter century, the workman's appeal seldom goes beyond the chapel.

It is a recognized fact that no business can run long without direction, especially where large numbers of men are employed, and unless there is some recognized authority, lives and property would be jeopardized. If insubordination were tolerated, disintegration would follow, possibly with dire results. In every well regulated plant and in all well conducted unions, insubordination is just cause for discharge of an employee.

With nearly a thousand miners on strike over a matter of just plain days—A special meeting will be held on April 16th, at 3:30 p.m. in the hall. This meeting will be addressed by Mr. A. H. Priest, field secretary for Sunday school days.

It smacks of "red" tactics more than anything else.—Kimberley Press.

ROCK FROM FRANK

SLIDE FOR FILLING

The C.P.R. on the Crow division now have quite a large undertaking in the way of transporting rock from the big slide at Frank to Kootenay Landing, where the material will be used for filling and ballast. Monday a trainload of 45 flat cars loaded with this rock was seen in the railway yards here ready to be taken west to its destination. It is said that this is a starter of many trainloads which will follow. The supply of this rock at Frank is said to be almost inexhaustible, for it covers an area of some two miles in width and four miles in length, and is lying broken in size practically ready for loading.

A use for this material has been found after 29 years, for it will be twenty-nine years this month since that awful disaster that caused front page stories to be printed in almost every newspaper on the continent. About four o'clock on the morning of April 29th, 1903, an immense mass of rock catapulted from the top of Turtle Mountain, carrying death and destruction in its wake. Half of the houses in the town were crushed like egg shells, and eighty-six people were killed.

Frank was then a prosperous coal mining town with a population of probably 2,000 people. Several former residents of Cranbrook, Moyie and other East Kootenay towns had moved there to make their homes.

There are six graves in the Cranbrook cemetery as a reminder of the terrible catastrophe. One headstone marks the graves of Alexander Leitch and his wife. The children killed at the same time were Athol Osborne Leitch, aged 6; Wilfrid Leitch, aged 4; Jos. Alexander Leitch, aged 12, and Allen Roy Leitch, aged 8. The baby daughter of the family had a miraculous escape. When thrown from the house she landed on a matress unharmed and not far from where her dead parents lay. She is now a grown woman, married, and lives in Nelson.

Now, by a strange turn in affairs, this rock, which once carried death and destruction before it, is being again gathered up and put to a useful purpose. —Cranbrook Courier.

MAY OPEN UP FORT

NORMAN OIL FIELD

The opening up of the oil wells north of Fort Norman in the North West Territories, by the Imperial Oil Limited, is a possibility. The wells are on the Mackenzie river, approximately fifty miles below or northwest of Fort Norman. The discovery dates back to 1919, and the oilfield is declared to be "the farthest north oilfield in the world", the latitude being approximately 65 degrees 15'.

During several years, drilling operations were carried on by the Imperial Oil Limited and the discovery well is reported to have developed into a 100-barrel per day producer. Small production was obtained from a second well drilled on Bear Island, opposite the discovery well, and about 40 barrels daily from a third well drilled close to the discovery well. The wells have been capped since 1925.

The probable market for oil would be for transport of supplies and ac- tual mining operations at Great Bear Lake. The radium and silver discoveries at the east end of that lake are approximately 350 miles from the oil wells by way of the Mackenzie and Great Bear rivers and Great Bear Lake.

SHOULD NOT TAX

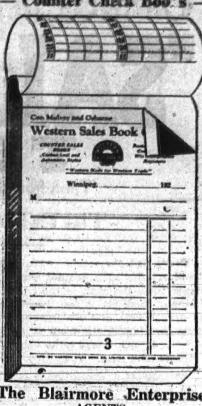

AMATEUR SPORT

A bill is up before legislature to add a tax to tickets for admission to amateur games. Most people will echo the sentiments of the Lethbridge Herald when it says:

"It is perfectly proper that games some individual should be taxed, as the theatres and other places of amusement are taxed.

"But strictly amateur sport should not be taxed. Usually these games are carried on by the sacrifice of time and money on the part of the individuals interested, both members of the team and the management. Hockey in Lethbridge barely paid its way this past season, though there were some games at which there was a large attendance.

"Athletes are too good a stimulant for the youth of our province to come under the blighting effect of any tax, no matter how badly the government may need the money, and the act should be amended so that it will be perfectly clear that games which are sanctioned and supervised by the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Union will not be subject to tax on admission." —EX.

The Cult Of Bigness

Every time the census of population of the country is taken a number of controversies arise because some towns and cities feel they are actually "bigger" than the work of the census enumerators shows them to be. The citizens of these places feel themselves aggrieved, their newspapers protest and their boards of trade propose the taking of another and independent census to establish the truth or falsity of the official figures. All because the town or city wants to be "big" bigger than some other town or city it regards as a rival.

Yet bigness in population is not, in itself, necessarily a good thing. It is not a mark of excellence. Bigness is not greatness, although it is too frequently confused as such. Bigness may, indeed, be a weakness rather than a source of strength. The big city is not a friendly city; it is not a cheap place in which to live, but an expensive place; its pleasures are not of the soul-satisfying kind, but rather tend to the superficial and hectic; it has certain advantages, it is true, but they are, as a rule, outweighed by many more and greater disadvantages. Nevertheless, every town and city is disappointed if each succeeding census does not reveal to it and the world that it is "bigger."

This desire for bigness seems to be ingrained in our human make-up. We are all biggers, although the smaller ones in which we live are less comfortable and less adequate to our needs, and can be maintained at much less cost. We want a bigger car, although we really do not require it and cannot well afford the extra cost to purchase and meet the heavier bills for its operation and upkeep. Instead of being content with that which actually satisfies our needs, we envy another solely because what he has is "bigger" than what we have.

This far from sensible worship of bigness has led many astray and who find themselves in acute difficulty today because what they have is bigger than they need and therefore ought to have. The farmer with a quarter or half section years for a bigger farm and so he bought more land until he had a section or two sections. Today, as he sees many of his neighbors with the smaller holdings getting along while he is in trouble, he is less sure about the value of bigness. Today the city man with a large house and a large car is inclined to wish both were of smaller dimensions. The owner of these big things is coming to realize that they also mean something else on a big scale, that is, big expense, big liabilities, big debts.

A big man physically is not necessarily a strong man nor a healthy one. It is not the biggest flowers that are the most beautiful and the most fragrant, not the biggest apple or peach that is the juiciest or more luscious to the taste. It is not the biggest painting that is the most exquisite and wonderful, nor the biggest book that contains the finest poetry or most entertaining story. Bigness, in itself, is a delusion and a sham.

And, after all, what does mere bigness bring in its train? The bigger a city, the bigger its problems and the bigger its costs of administration. The bigger a man's fortune, the bigger the load of responsibility he has to carry, but not bigger the happiness he enjoys. The German Kaiser wanted a big army and a big navy, and they cost him his throne. It is the bigger ships, the bigger hotels, the bigger office buildings, the bigger businesses that are having the hardest struggle today because they cannot cut their overhead expenses sufficiently to meet present conditions, while those of the smaller class are riding through the storm of this depression.

Why do we all clamor for bigness? The vast majority of us must always have had very small goals in the world. But it is not infinitely better to fill that small goal, to be held in esteem and loved a bit in a small home and home town, than to be a cipher in a big city. It is in the so-called small things of life, in the narrow confines of our own home circle, that we find the real joys and the great satisfactions of life, rather than in those things which so frequently, but incorrectly, are termed big?

Think it out for yourself the next time you are inclined to feel disengaged and envious of the other fellow who has something that, on the face of it, appears bigger than what you have. Perhaps, if you only knew the whole story, he would gladly exchange places with you.

Explore Air Routes

Russian Polar Exhibition Seeking New Points To North America

A Russian Polar Expedition, seeking a new air route from Russia to North America, will be sent out on the famed ice-breaker "Krassik" next summer, it was announced at London.

The icebreaker, which participated in the dirigible "Italia's" rescue, will carry two airplanes when it starts northward in an effort to penetrate the Arctic ice fields beyond the 85th parallel.

From the point which the icebreaker is able to reach, the air planes will be sent out to explore possible air routes across the Polar wastes to North America. The expedition is scheduled to remain in the Polar ice all next winter.

Receives Little Help

Bills Of Great Britain's Payments Raised By Taxation

In a recent issue the Saturday Evening Post made the assertion that "So far Great Britain's payments to America have been met by collections from other nations. They have not come out of taxation levied at home."

That statement is at variance with the facts. Only a few days ago Premier Ramsay MacDonald stated that Great Britain's total payments to the United States last year amounted to $106,000,000, and that Britain's total receipts from debts and reparations have come to $102,465,000. There is thus a gap of some $134,000,000 which has had to be filled from the pockets of the British taxpayers—Halifax Herald.

Adepts At Lip-Reading

Workers In Automobile Plants Talk To Each Other Easly

The case with which workmen in some departments of the great automobile plants make themselves heard above the incessant and deafening noises of pounding presses and ponderous hammers is always a source of amazement to visitors. Few of them know it is all done by lip-reading and by becoming accustomed to the bedlam. After a comparatively short time, the workmen can talk in ordinary tones without raising their voices and still understand each other.

Why British Tour Continent

Find Hotels In America Too Noisy and Too Expensive

People of the British Isles are not likely to start flocking to Canada or United States on extended tours, in the opinion of Brook Flowers, vice-president of the Passenger Agents Association of Great Britain.

Completing an extensive tour of Canada, starting at Halifax and ending at Vancouver, B.C., and then journeying south into the United States, Mr. Flowers declared he found rail road and hotel rates far too high, food too expensive.

Not only was food too high, he said, but it is not well prepared, well cooked and well served. The helpings are too large. "After all," he added, "the English are not gourmets."

Another thing Mr. Flowers believed led the British to tour the continent instead of North America, was the possessiveness of Canadian and United States hotels. There the lobbies are filled with people who are not even stopping at the hotels. "In England," he added, "the management knows what the guests want. Both in Canada and the United States you have to telephone for anything and everything you want."

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food ferment, flatulence, constipation, diarrhea, ten in by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Acid stomach develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Does not an ulcer in the stomach cause indigestion?

Indigestion that only gives temporary relief is a sure sign of acid stomach.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little baking soda. This will neutralize the pain vanishing and your meal will be more digestible. Baking soda is better than Bismarck Magnesia. Your stomach will digest your food in a few minutes. Bismarck Magnesia is not reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is relatively laxative and is not at all expensive.

Children In Russia Taught That Clash With Other Nations Is Inevitable

The impression is being created in Russia that war with some other power at some time is inevitable. The children are being taught that the strength and resources of the Red Army and, while it is hoped that war never will occur, if it comes the army is ready.

The above statements were made by Miss Jessie Lee, who was one of the youngest members of the British House of Commons before her defeat at the last election. Miss Lee was the luncheon speaker before the Ottawa Canadian Club. Having visited and toured extensively in Russia, she chose for her subject "The New Generation in Russia." The audience which she addressed included Premier R. B. Bennett and W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition.

BRITAIN HAS A SURPLUS FOR FISCAL YEAR

London, Eng.—The treasury announced that the budget for 1931-32 had been balanced with a surplus of £84,000 ($1,822,000 at par).

The surplus, it was explained, after providing £32,500,000 (nominally £162,500,000) for redemption of Britain's debts and the withdrawal of £12,750,000 ($63,750,000 at par) from the dollar exchange account, instead of the £23,000,000 contemplated last September.

The revenue for the year amounted to £770,963,000 and the expenditures were £770,599,000. (The pound sterling is worth nearly $5 at par, but has depreciated to $7.30 since Great Britain suspended the gold standard.) Draastic measures taken by the government last September to balance the budget as the first step toward a restoration of world confidence and prosperity were regarded as having been successful when the figures were published.

Most of the funds necessary to balance the budget were raised by new taxation, and some "sweat taxation," which might be compared to a draft of physical exerture, was introduced. The figures, for instance, revealed only £12,750,000 had been withdrawn from the dollar exchange account, which was established during the war to prevent a collapse of foreign exchange and meet payments in dollars in the United States; instead of the higher sum contemplated last fall.

Then, too, the taxpayer this year had to pay three-quarters of his income tax for the calendar year before March 31, instead of the usual half paid before that date. As a consequence, one-quarter of the 1932 income tax receipts, which ordinarily would have been devoted to the 1932-33 budget, has been used to balance the budget of the fiscal year which ended Thursday night, March 31.

The treasury gave the reason for the bills amounting to $90,000,000 which matured March 29, in New York, had been paid and that a balance of 99,000,000 francs ($5,860,000) of a credit extended by a group of French banks had been paid off.

The treasury in each case reserved the right to reborrow until 12 months after the credits of last August and September were granted.

A loan of 2,500,000 francs ($10,000,000) from the French public taxes yielded the most money—£287,000,000—for the budget, and customs duties were next with £356,000,000. The surtax yielded £76,000,000.

Although informed treasury sources said there might be some relief for the taxpayer in the next budget, they indicated it probably would be less than some quarters had expected.

Technical Education

AM GIVEN TO FIVE PROVIDED BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, Ont.—Technical education in five provinces was aided by government grants during the fiscal year 1930-1931 to the extent of $391,397.

Information placed on the table of the House of Commons in reply to a question of Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster), revealed that the provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Manitoba and Saskatchewan had received federal assistance in technical training.

See the Bright Side

New York.—Rather optimistic about the way the world is wagging, particularly that part of it which the British occupy, Sir Campbell Stuart, a director of "The Times" of London, England, arrived here from Canada to pass a few days in the United States before sailing homeward. A native of the Dominion, Sir Campbell, in the last year of the Great War, was deputy director of British propaganda in enemy countries under the late Lord Northcliffe.

Bird Shipment of Oats

Calgary, Alberta—Approximately 830,000 bushels of seed oats will have been shipped to Saskatchewan at the end of this week, according to G. M. Stewart, district inspector of the Dominion seed branch. This amount, all from the Peace River district of Alberta, will meet the Saskatchewan requirements for the late Lord Northcliffe.

Committed For Trial

Verigin, Who Faces Four Charges, Released On Bail

Toronto, Ont.—Peter Verigin was committed for trial on three charges of perjury and released on bail, set at $12,000, when he appeared in court here before Magistrate A. McDonald.

When the Doukhobor leader appeared in court of king's bench here in May he will have to answer four charges, three of perjury and one of tampering with witnesses.

The perjury charges are alleged to have been committed while Verigin was giving evidence at the preliminary hearing of George Chukhobor, who was charged by the Doukhobor leader with having committed perjury in the Yorkton Court House last November.

Plans Long Flight

Canadian Aviator May Attempt To Fly To Rome In May

Ottawa, Ont.—A solo aeroplane flight from Canada to Rome is planned by Capt. J. Erroll Boyd, Canadian flyer, according to word received here. Capt. Boyd, who made the eastward crossing of the Atlantic in 1930, plans to attend the conference of trans-Atlantic aviators opening in Rome on May 22.

The Canadian aviator is at present at Wilson-by-the-Sea, Florida. His present plans materialize he will fly direct from Daytona Beach, Fla., to Canada, touching at Toronto, Montreal and Charlottetown before hopping off at Harbor Grace, Nfld., on a flight to London and Rome.

Tells Of Plots

Anti-Soviet Conspiracies Outside Of Russian Border

Moscow, Russia—Moscow newspaper gave prominent place to a despatch from Paris to the Tass news agency, quoting the Comptoir news paper "Humanite" as saying that plotting activities by Russian "white guards" were underway throughout Europe, including plots against the life of Joseph Stalin and other anti-Soviet conspiracies outside the Russian border.

Among the latter, the despatch said, was a proposal to assassinate Maxim Gorki, Russian author, in Moscow, and Maxim Litvinov, Soviet foreign commissar, in Germany.

NO LOSS FROM ALBERTA POOL GUARANTEES

Scope Of Investigation May Be Given To Necessary

Ottawa, Ont.—"If the committee reports it necessary to a committee in inquiry as to any senators affected or in justice to any public man whose honor is impugned in the course of the evidence," the scope of the investigation committee on Beaumaris will be determined. This was the reply given by Senator Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Upper House, to a question asked by Senator Hardy.

The necessity for broadening the committee's powers in order to hear G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner, was suggested by Senator J. E. Brownlie in the Alberta legislature.

Referring to operations on the open market this year, the premier said that the wheat pool marketing have now passed from 35,000,000 bushel mark and the record holdings in history of the Alberta Co-Operative was 37,000,000 bushels.

After some criticism had been expressed by D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, and W. R. Howson, Liberal, Edmonton, to whom the premier, the bills validating agreements between Alberta and the banks and the wheat pool concerning the guarantees were given second reading. The bills ratify settlements authorized at the last session.

All amendments to raise the exemptions under the proposed provincial income tax were defeated during committee, and the exemptions will stand at $750 for single persons and £1,500 for married persons.

Ocean Fares Slashed

Reduction Is Announced In Trans-Atlantic Accommodation

London, England—Trans-Atlantic passenger rates have been slashed 15 per cent, or more by a group of Great Britain's largest marine companies, the White Star and Cunard Line, while most of the shipping firms of Europe, Canada and the United States were conferring on rate cut projects in Brussels.

The White Star was the first to announce a slash. All classes of accommodation on its liners will be affected by the cut which in general eliminates the 15 per cent. surcharge imposed when Great Britain suspended the gold standard.

Within a few hours officials of the Cunard, Canadian Pacific and Canadian National lines announced fares would be reduced between Europe and Canada. First class, cabin class and tourist class minimum rates will be slashed 20 per cent, and third class ocean rates reduced 10 per cent, by all three lines.

The White Star announcement said that the usual increases in fare just before the summer tourist season opens will not be put into effect this year.

Opposes Prison Term Cuts

B.C. Attorney-General Says Desperadoes Should Serve Full Time

Victoria, B.C.—Strong condemnation of the practice of federal authorities releasing from penitentiary inmates before the expiration of their terms, without reference to the province in which prisoners were committed to prison, was voiced by R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General, in the British Columbia legislature.

Referring to recent crimes of William Bagley, bank robber, gunman and fugitive from justice, Mr. Pooley said that of five men convicted and released after serving part of their sentences for the robbery of a bank in Nanaimo several years ago, one had since been hanged, two others were now in police toils in the United States and Bagley was now a fugitive from justice after the Harrison Hot Springs hotel robbery last year and the Okalla jail break in January.

Widen Beaumaris Inquiry

Scope Of Investigation May Be Given To Necessary

Ottawa, Ont.—"If the committee reports it necessary to a committee in inquiry as to any senators affected or in justice to any public man whose honor is impugned in the course of the evidence," the scope of the investigation committee on Beaumaris will be determined. This was the reply given by Senator Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Upper House, to a question asked by Senator Hardy.

The necessity for broadening the committee's powers in order to hear G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner, was suggested by Senator J. E. Brownlie.

Referring to operations on the open market this year, the premier said that the wheat pool marketing have now passed from 35,000,000 bushel mark and the record holdings in history of the Alberta Co-Operative was 37,000,000 bushels.

After some criticism had been expressed by D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, and W. R. Howson, Liberal, Edmonton, to whom the premier, the bills validating agreements between Alberta and the banks and the wheat pool concerning the guarantees were given second reading. The bills ratify settlements authorized at the last session.

All amendments to raise the exemptions under the proposed provincial income tax were defeated during committee, and the exemptions will stand at $750 for single persons and £1,500 for married persons.

INTRODUCES BILL

Regiment Publishes War History

Official History Of 44th Battalion Is Vivid Story Of "Six Thousand Canadian Men"

Winnipeg, Manitoba—April 9th (Vivian Night), when the members of the Forty-Fourth Battalion Association got together for their annual reunion in Winnipeg, the official history of the unit will be distributed.

The writing of an official history of the Canadian men in the Great War is a vast project. For more than three years committees have labored devotedly in the collection of facts, photos and finances to produce a history worthy of the 44th Battalion's war record. The completed work is now available for 44th men, their next of kin, and the general public.

Entitled "Six Thousand Canadian Men" and dedicated to the twelve hundred comrades "who went up the line with us, and did not come back," the 44th history is a book of some 400 pages. It outlines the experience of these men, who, tackling a new job, mastered the hard lessons of the grim school of war and built up a unit which, in the opinion of the author, is "one of the best in the Canadian Corps."

Checking the historical accuracy of the official history, Col. Dugald of the Records Office, Ottawa, pronounced the work "a good history, vivid and interesting throughout."

Air Service For Alberta

Express Plane Will Operate Between Calgary and Edmonton

Regina, Sask.—Commencing May 1 a passenger and express service by aeroplane will be operated between Calgary and Edmonton by the Canadian Airways Company, western division.

Announcements to this effect was made at Moose Jaw by Captain Roy Brown, superintendent of the western section. No such service has been planned for the rest of the prairies over which the government air mail service ceased March 31.

Two Fokker F-11 planes, capable of carrying eight passengers each, will be operated with Pilots and Ashton in charge.

The Calgary-Edmonton service is being undertaken in order to provide transportation to the Great Bear district in northern Alberta.

MANITOBA WILL OFFER A NEW BOND ISSUE SOON

Winnipeg, Man.—As soon as the bill was being rushed through the Manitoba legislature, the province will offer a $5,000,000 bond issue. It is expected the issue will be sold in Canada and will be payable in Canadian funds.

The legislature suspended the rules to give first reading to the bill when it was introduced without notice by Premier John Bracken, Wednesday, March 30. Vigorous objection was voiced by the Labor members of the House to the proposed loan, and this group blocked second reading of the bill by refusing the necessary unanimous consent to a further suspension of the rules.

The money to be raised will be used to pay off debts created for such public services as unemployment relief, Canada Highway and the new tuberculosis sanatorium. Premier Bracken stated maturities to be met are: $1,000,000 due in New York, April 1; $2,000,000 due in Winnipeg, May 1; and $1,000,000 in treasury bills issued to meet advances in the banks to the provincial savings office.

During the summer the government will have to meet the bond debt of the Farm Loan Association amounting to $500,000, Mr. Bracken said. Apart from this there would be no other obligation of consequence until December when an issue of $5,000,000 fell due. He said if the province can get immediate maturities cleared up in a few weeks the way will be paved for taking care of the December issue.

John Queen, Labor leader, and William Ivens, another laborer, attended another bond meeting only adding to the financial difficulty and piling up later obligations. Instead their demands would make a "courageous attempt to change the monetary system."

The choice lay between the province defusing or paying its debts, said the Premier. Labor members were not dealing with realities. The House had no intention of changing the monetary system and the government had no intention of defaulting.

OTTAWA PLANS TO LIMIT ALL COMMITMENTS

Ottawa, Ont.—Under the stress of present economic conditions, the government is making every effort that men can put forward, in order to avoid the creation of obligations that are not absolutely essential to carrying into effect the provisions of the Unemployment and Farm Relief Act.

This assurance was given to the House of Commons by the Prime Minister when the House was in committee on the bill which is designed to extend the Unemployment and Farm Relief Act from March 1 to May 1.

Nothing was of so much concern to the government, declared Mr. Bennett, as the whole financial outlook of this country.

Even the richest country of the world—the United States—was faced with a deficit of $2,500,000,000. In view of these conditions and with the financial obligations now resting on the government, every effort was being made to avoid the creation of commitments not absolutely essential to the carrying into effect of the terms of the present measure.

"I can only say that to the extent of our ability, we propose to limit commitments to a minimum, consistent with the obligations already resting on us," said Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Bennett was replying to J. L. Ralston (Lib., Yarmouth-Sherburne), who had taken objection to the "unlimited powers" the bill vested in the cabinet.

The opposition seemed to forget, declared the Prime Minister, that an extraordinary condition existed throughout the country. Now then one of the "faithful" in a moment of mental aberration explained the situation, but the party frowned on it.
